

Round-trip latency is generally low during the event